Labor-Management Partnerships By partnering with employers, unions help working people develop in-demand skills to power the next generation of American-led innovation. Joint labor-management training programs in the building and construction industry contribute about $1.5 billion to the American economy every year. Labor-Management Partnerships | AFL-CIO Passing a union election leads to an 8.7% (12.5%) decline in patent quantity (quality) three years after the election. A reduction in R&D expenditures, reduced productivity of current and newly hired inventors, and departures of innovative inventors appear plausible mechanisms through which unionization impedes firm innovation. Do Unions Affect Innovation? by Daniel Bradley, Incheol ... Union and Labor-Management Transparency. The LMRDA is premised on the understanding that union members, officers, and the public in general would benefit by having access to information about labor unions, their officers and employees, employers, labor relations consultants, and surety companies. Union Resources | U.S. Department of Labor According to the Society for Human Resource Management, the U.S. Bureau of Labor and Statistics reported that participation in labor unions was down in 2016, especially in the private sector. And the cause for this is due to the ever-increasing responsiveness of human resource (HR)
