Tangles: A story about Alzheimer's, My Mother, and Me. New York: Skyhorse Publishing Books. Genre: Non-Fiction, Memoir Format: Paperback Plot summary: Although this book is written for an older audience than 10-12 year olds, it's a unique book in the small world of literature on Alzheimer's and one that should be included in any catalog. Tangles: A Story About Alzheimer's, My Mother, and Me by ... In this powerful memoir the the LA Times calls "moving, rigorous, and heartbreaking," Sarah Leavitt reveals how Alzheimer's disease transformed her mother, Midge, and her family forever. In spare blackand- white drawings and clear, candid prose, Sarah shares her family's journey through a harrowing range of emotions—shock, denial, hope, anger, frustration—all the while learning to cope, and managing to find moments of happiness. Tangles: A Story About Alzheimer's, My Mother, and Me by ... Tangles is an honest and deeply personal account of losing a parent to Alzheimer's, and all of the role-reversals, personality changes, and protracted loss that goes with that. Its power is in its simplicity; Sarah Leavitt is able to dive deep into the tangled plot-twist that Alzheimer's wrought up on her mother's (and her) story, and find the thread on the other side.
